

15. The method according to claim 14, wherein a plug is further provided and mounted on the adaptor, and said heat-shrinkable film is sized so as to further cover at least part of said plug.

16. The method according to claim 15, wherein, before 5 bonding the heat-shrinkable film on the assembly, a break-able line is designed on a part of the heat-shrinkable film intended to cover part of said plug.

17. The method according to claim 14, wherein the heat-shrinkable film is in the form of a rectangular sheet 10 when bonded on the assembly.

18. The method according to claim 14, wherein said product comprises a medical fluid.

* * * * *